

Studio D Announces Charitable Donation to Global Housing Non-Profit

$25,000 worth of furniture + home accessories donated to Habitat for Humanity

SAN FRANCISCO, CA— AUGUST 29, 2017— Studio D, the bi-coastal home staging + design firm headquartered in San Francisco announced today that they have made a donation of home furnishings, art, and accessories valued at approximately $25,000 to Habitat for Humanity, a non-profit housing organization devoted to the construction and preservation of affordable homes for low-income families all over the world, and other efforts relating to affordable housing awareness and support.

Studio D's donations will go directly into local "Habitat ReStores", home improvement outlet stores that sell reusable and surplus furniture, building materials and other home items to the public, and then immediately invest their proceeds back into the organization's building and advocacy efforts.

"Many people working in and around high-end real estate forget how insular their market is, and lose perspective on the issue of housing; but the truth is, everyone deserves a decent place to live- regardless of their housing budget," said Gail Dunnett, Founder and CEO of Studio D. "When we learned that sales from some 'Habitat ReStores' can raise enough to fund construction of 10 or more additional houses per year, we were excited to get involved, and we hope our contributions will make a difference in the lives of those in need of safe, affordable homes."

As Habitat for Humanity continues to build homes and raise awareness for affordable housing around the world, Studio D is prepared to continue supporting the Greater San Francisco Habitat affiliate, as well as providing employees and other community members with information about how they can contribute to the organization through volunteer efforts and individual donations.
